

Artificial Intelligence

Artificial Intelligence (AI) is a branch of computer science focused on building intelligent systems capable of performing tasks that typically require human intelligence.

Applications include:

- Natural Language Processing
- Computer Vision
- Robotics
- Autonomous Vehicles
- Recommendation Systems

Machine Learning is a subset of Artificial Intelligence.

Deep Learning is a subset of Machine Learning that uses neural networks with multiple hidden layers.

AI is widely used in healthcare, finance, education, manufacturing, and cybersecurity.